DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-11 are allowed. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: all claims are means claims. All claims recite the ongoing scenario detection means and ongoing scenario storage means. One of the necessary information that these means must use is noted at page 11 (such as the addresses, source, destination, etc.). Attack detection itself is not novel and Applicant's own previous work (such as noted at pages 1-7) did relate to attack detection. Nevertheless, such features necessary and recited in the claims that would permit more real-time handling in the context of the other features were not taught or suggested by the prior art. As for JPO Examiner's Office Action (cited by Applicant on June 18, 2007), there is no record of the claim (which does not, in any case, have been in English) that JPO Examiner has examined. JPO Examiner mentions 5 claims, whereas the present US application contains 11 claims. Furthermore, the art and the features that JPO Examiner discusses are more directed to the topics noted as the prior art (at pages 1-7 of the specification of this US application) than to the claims of this present US application. The prior art did not teach or suggest the particular features of the claims.
